I come from Italy and I am an Architect and Designer

A photograph of a courtyard at the University of Genoa. In the background, a tall, light-colored stone bell tower with arched windows stands against a blue sky with light clouds. To the right, a long, red brick building with a tiled roof and a series of windows is visible. In the foreground, a thick, rough stone wall runs across the frame. Below the wall, a paved courtyard area contains a green lawn, a large bush, and several people sitting on the ground. A glass-enclosed walkway is visible on the left side of the courtyard.
