Session Review	Koji was a Pleasure to teach today we started with a little warmup of talking about a day and then we moved onto the English grammar textbook provided by his mother. This focused on making Koji's opinion into a conversation. We made sure to go over the most important points that are often mistook and Koji showed brilliant progression throughout the session. After this we decided to read one of koji's books about Lilo and stitch. This book incorporated both Japanese and English and I made sure that Koji could explain The Japanese parts in English. To end the session we played a game of Uno which also had some question and answer sections. This proved to be very motivating for Koji as it was a fun game as well as a productive game.
Child's improvement, condition, awareness, or any other points you noticed	Today we started the English textbook so I will monitor his progress from next week.
